

Learning Development Support

Learning Development & Learning Difficulties

Individuals grow and develop at different rates, both physically and mentally.

We notice the physical as this is visual, however, the developments going on inside are also unique. Challenges arise when these do not match the social, cultural environment that we grow up in.

On occasion our special individual systems need assistance with certain areas of development.

Noticing our child is finding life challenging and is finding learning difficult is heart-wrenching and knowing where to look for support can be challenging.

Learning development and learning difficulties interventions may be provided in a variety of ways. All programmes created at The Therapy Place are individual and may include movement and reflex programmes created specifically for a child's requirements.
